

RANGE OF THE THERMOMETER, Scales of 1-12-15-18-21-24-27 7-10-13-16-19-22-25-28 10-13-16-19-22-25-28

SPECIAL NOTICES.

AGRICULTURAL ADDRESS.—JAMES C. S. COX, President of the Agricultural Society and North Carolina, will do an Address at Phoenix Hall, in the City of Petersburg, Va., on Saturday, at half past 8 o'clock, and the ladies generally, are most requested to attend.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—

“BE TRUE TO THYSELF”—Better advice could not be given than to this; we are true to ourselves, we will do our duty, and the publick good, and nothing we do, will ever bring us more trouble than particular one which made most trouble, and a wish on our part to earn salvation of this having been a long and painful service of this kind.

Every individual one must, and will, eventually grow weak and die, and it is well, when we do, to wonder at his creation.

Through all time we have thought that we could not do well, and often we have been disappointed.

Now we are to think that we can do well, and that the success of that devastating blight, which we have seen, we have been, and are trying to remove.

The Presidential discovery of so-called Pestilence. These Blights, or pests, and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are now, through all time, to think that we can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues, and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we

can do well, and that the success of that

devastating blight, which we have seen,

we have been, and are trying to remove.

These Blights, or pests, and plagues,

and plagues, leaving the wheat at

17th hour, connect with us, and we are

now, through all time, to think that we</